Leadership - Minor

Explain how affected parties (students, faculty, staff) will be informed of the impending closure.

Email notification of the two students in the minor program, with instructions shared with the college advisers about the teach-out plan. For faculty, notification by email of department heads whose departments offer courses contributing to the minor, so that the heads may inform relevant faculty. Departmental advisers will be notified at the monthly meeting of college advisers.

Explain how students will be helped to complete their programs of study with minimal disruption or additional expense.

The courses for the minor are always offered, and so the remaining students will be able to register for them in any given semester. The courses are part of faculty members' regular course loads, and the students formed only a very small (one or two) of the large enrollments in those classes.

Explain how faculty and staff will be redeployed or helped to find new employment.

Not applicable as advising was done by the advisers in my office of Undergraduate Programs as part of their normal duties, and all course offerings are part of normal teaching loads for faculty. Faculty and staff will be remain as they are currently employed and used.

How many students are currently enrolled in the program? 2

Projected graduation date for the last student(s) in the program? 05/2019

Rationale for inactivation/deletion

Lack of student interest. Only two students in the program, which is the usual average.

Rationale for Proposal

Program hours

Is this program eligible for financial aid?

Has program funding been finalized at the department or college level?

Will new costs for the first five years of the program be under $2 million?
