RE: Proposed Changes to the 2011-2012 Graduate Course Catalog: PHIL 663

To provide greater flexibility in the scheduling of courses for doctoral students so as to facilitate timely completion of their degrees, we are proposing that the prerequisites for PHIL 663 (Seminar in Applied Philosophy) change from “12-hours of graduate work in Philosophy plus instructor approval” to “approval of instructor.”

A second change to this course concerns the title. Our request is to change the current title from “Seminar in Metaphysics and Epistemology,” to “Seminar in Metaphysics or Epistemology.” This is done in order to make the title consistent with the course description itself, according to which a given offering of this course may include topics in either metaphysics or epistemology but will not necessarily include topics in both.

Thank you for your time.
