1. Program request type:
   [ ] Undergraduate  [ ] Graduate  [ ] First Professional (e.g., DVM, JD, MD, etc.)

2. Request change for:
   [ ] Degree Program  [ ] Minor  [ ] Certificate

3. Request submitted by (Department or Program Name):
   International Studies

Program Designation and Name
(e.g., B.A. in History, Minor in History, Certificate in European Union):
B.A. in Modern Languages: German

5. Brief description of change:
   [1] Change current supporting coursework requirement to a required minor, 12 hours of which can only count toward the minor (students may fulfill the requirement with a second major instead).
   [2] Define as a distinct item the required 3-hours in core curriculum area, Language Philosophy Culture (total degree program hours will not change).
   [3] Reduce general electives to 24 hours and allow students to count 100-level language courses as general elective (total degree program hours will not change).
   [4] Change Communication requirement (rule B) to include any course with the Communication attribute [KCOM].
   [6] Move or expand rules related to College requirements within the current degree evaluation. miscellaneous changes as requested by degree audit.

6. Rationale for change:
   [1] There has been some confusion among students in the degree plan of how to fulfill the current 12-hour requirement in supporting coursework and the supporting coursework has not always resulted in a focused plan of study; therefore, we are changing this requirement to a required minor. In general, the careful combination of foreign language skills with other curricula enhances preparation for careers in business, industry and government.
   [2] The university core curriculum requirement (LPC) had not been clearly defined as a separate item that students could easily recognize in their degree plan; therefore, by moving it into a distinct rule, students can more easily identify the state requirement.
   [3] The addition of 3 hours LPC as a distinct rule has resulted in the reduction of general electives by a corresponding 3 hours; total degree program hours will not change.
   [4] Expansion of Communication rule B allows students to complete requirement with any course with the Communication attribute [KCOM], so that revisions do not need to be submitted each time a new course is added to this area of the core.
   [5] SPAN 203 is an equivalent course to SPAN 202, designed for heritage speakers of Spanish.
   [6] Currently, a significant amount of course adjustment requests are being submitted to move literature courses, which pick up in the KLPC rule (B), to the literature rule (C). Due to the Communication area being prioritized higher in the degree evaluation, the literature courses will be picked up in this area first. Therefore, moving the literature requirement to the Communication area, rule C, will alleviate most of the KLPC/literature adjustment requests. The state core curriculum requirement for Social and Behavioral Science is 3 hours, but the CLLA degrees require 6 hours. By breaking the current rule A, which is 6 hours, into rule A (3 hours) and rule B (3 hours), it will make the degree evaluation more precise and easily identifiable between the state requirement and the college requirement.

Curriculum in Modern Languages

The department offers a wide range of courses in Modern Languages at all levels of the undergraduate curriculum as part of its mission to support and advance the international and global competencies of university students. At present, students can earn a BA in Modern Languages with options in French, German, or Russian. Courses are designed to offer students extended study of the language, literatures, and cultures of these language communities. Survey introductory courses are complemented by in-depth studies, providing opportunities to fulfill electives as well as to develop more specific interests of students of literature and culture. The department insists on a high competence in the language, which is the basis for all other options. Students will be required to complete, by coursework or placement test, all 100- and 200-level courses in sequence (except FREN, GERM, RUSS 221 and 222, which are taken concurrently) before taking any upper-level course, unless an upper-level course permits co-registration or skipping a lower course in the sequence (see inventory of courses for prerequisites). Once a student has received credit for a higher-level language course, the student is no longer eligible to receive credit for prerequisite courses. In addition to classes at the College Station campus, the department offers summer study programs for credit. Departmental faculty and advising staff also work closely with students to match their interests with semester and full-year programs abroad.

French: 33 credits. The following courses are required:

Credit 6 hours at intermediate level:
3  FREN 201 Intermediate French I or FREN 221 Field Studies I
3  FREN 202 Intermediate French II or FREN 222 Field Studies II

Credit 18 hours at the 300-level. Choose from:

Credit 12 hours at the 200-, 300- and 400-level. Choose from:
12 RUSS 203-220, RUSS 223-499. Up to 6 hours may be selected from EURO 440-449.

Other Requirements. Language majors are required to complete 12 hours in supporting courses to be chosen in consultation with the departmental advisors and appropriate to the student’s major. Instead of 12 hours in supporting courses, language majors may select a minor field of study from departments or divisions within or outside of the College of Liberal Arts or in a particular area of interest (as in the case of interdisciplinary minors or career opportunity minors). The minor will consist of a minimum of 15 hours of coursework; nine (9) hours must be in advanced (300- or 400-level) courses. Interdisciplinary minors such as women’s and gender studies, religious studies, Hispanic studies, and business have specific requirements; students should consult the Undergraduate Student Services Office in the College of Liberal Arts for details. A second major may substitute for the minor. In general, the careful combination of foreign language skills with other curricula enhances preparation for careers in business, industry and government. Teaching certification is available to majors through the College of Education and Human Development. Consult the College of Education and Human Development section under secondary teacher certification for additional information. Any departmental major must earn a “C” or better in all major and minor coursework.
Minor Field of Study All language majors must select a minor field of study from departments or divisions within or outside of the College of Liberal Arts or in a particular area of interest (as in the case of interdisciplinary minors). The minor will consist of a minimum of 15 hours of coursework, as defined by the minor department (12 hours from the minor requirement may only apply towards the minor). Interdisciplinary minors such as women’s studies, classical studies, religious studies, and business have specific requirements; students should consult undergraduate advisors in these areas of study. A second major may substitute for the minor. Courses used to meet the minor requirements may not be used in the major. See also the statement on “Minor Field of Study” under the general requirements of the College of Liberal Arts. In general, the careful combination of foreign language skills with other curricula enhances preparation for careers in business, industry and government. Teaching certification is available to majors through the College of Education and Human Development. Consult the College of Education and Human Development section under secondary teacher certification for additional information. Any departmental major must earn a “C” or better in all major and minor coursework.
